The FTC is having their State AG hearing today and it sounds as though the State AGs are interested in Google's display ads business:

In his remarks at the FTC hearing, [Louisiana AG Jeff] Landry took direct aim at Google, outlining the company's control over the digital advertising industry. "Google controls everything in this sphere. They control the whole pipeline," Landry said. "Google gets to pick the winners and losers because the system is rigged in their favor and rife with conflicts. Continuing down this road will kill online publishing or Google will control who stays and who goes . . . If we don't act today, that dream of the internet will perish."
